

Hi! So groovy to see you!

My aunt called me up the other day and asked if I could come help her do some cleaning out in her attic. (Apparently she's been so inspired by my adventures that she's decided to go out and travel the world!) I was happy to oblige, because if you know my aunt, you know she's already had many adventures of her own! As I was going through some boxes of old clothes in her attic, I found the most beautiful floral dress from the 1970s! It was all done in warm colors, with a wonderful cantaloupe-colored ruffle along the bottom. It was just lovely, with a hint of a "prairie" charm to it... Instinctively I held it up to myself, wondering if it would fit... As I stood there, my gaze landed on a box tucked in the corner of my aunt's attic. My eyes widened and I exclaimed, "Bonnie Smith Vintage Wonder Wedges!", my heart fluttering with excitement. "These are like, totally legendary!"

A smile bloomed on my aunt's face and she said, "Oh, I remember that dress! I made it myself, and wore it to Woodstock, along with those fabulous wedges! I'm pretty sure I was the best dressed person there!" She put her hand on her cheek and chuckled, "Oh, I can just picture myself twirling around in that outfit in my living room, surrounded by the warmth of harvest-gold carpeting and brown wood paneled walls decorated with my Macramé art..."

I could tell it was such a happy time in her life, and I was honored when she gave me her special dress and iconic shoes. I promised her I would take good care of this special outfit, and make my own, brand-new, happy memories with it. And that's where YOU come in. Let's see what magic we can make with this gorgeous 1970s ensemble!

So what do you say-- Are you in?
Far out! Let's go!
